

Declaring garage finished

I'm declaring the garage finished! While this is never the case, as there is always room for improvement, the major work is complete.

Here's roughly how it looked before we started:

Here's the best comparison I could find for the outside view. Apparently we did not take a picture once everything was done, odd.

This shows much better what it was all about:

